

Further in his speech, and he did not so much further. He had packed the spirit of the day into his "we believe in Calvin Coolidge."

It is the new credo of the north, and the people act as if they mean it when they say it. I never saw a public man get precisely the same kind of proof of their trust and affection as the people gave Mr. Coolidge yesterday and today. It is not clamorous applause when he rides by; it is respectful and respectful.

This illustrates its quality. The extent of the crowd at the funeral, the authorities have not had to use a rope or a stake in the whole of the Twin Cities in order to hold back the people or control the multitude. The spirit of decorum and order has been very fine, and it is this side of the character that these thousands of men, women, and children have shown the President today. Their welcome to him has been like their behavior, earnest and considerate.

Uttering a Lovely Phrase.

"The human story of the passing millions of plain people whose names are strangers to public place and fame."

That was one of Calvin Coolidge's lovely phrases in his last letter day speech.

That, he said, was of all stories the one that most interested him, and he defined it as the story of "the social backgrounds of our country." He declared the story a thrilling tale of adventure, "that magnificent and wonderful adventure," as he put it, "of the making of our own America."

He begged the attentive throng to read it, to ponder it, to celebrate it often and gorgeously and thoughtfully with anniversary fetes and ceremonies and studies such as the present celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the first settlement of emigration from Norway to the United States has moved the people of the northwest to take up in recent weeks.

Why He Went to Fete.

Then he told his hearers why he had come up from Washington to talk to them and with them on this occasion. "I came," he said, "because I hoped to direct some measure of national attention to the absorbingly interesting subject of the social backgrounds of our country."

In these backgrounds lies what he called "the epic of the struggle to subjugate a continent," and he added that he was sure of this fact:

"Somewhere in our epic there will come a day when the philosophy of human relationships that the world will greatly prize."

"If we could seize and fix it, if we could turn it over, examine and understand it, we would have taken a long step toward solving some of the hardest problems of mankind."

Melting Pot Triumphs.

The President declared that it was not so many years ago that we ourselves were a problem to observers from other parts of the world, and he said that the questions they most often asked, and asked continuously, were these questions:

"Had we created a nation with the soul of a nation? Or had we merely brought together a large number of people in a large place?"

He said that dryly, with his characteristic Yankee pungency.

He thought his countrymen had successfully answered and were continuing successfully to answer these questions.

This, he said, was the answer: "Out of the confusion of tongues, the conflict of traditions, the variations of historic loyalties, the vast differences in talents and tastes there has been evolved a spiritual unity accompanied by a range of capacity and genius which marks this nation for a prominent destiny."

National Unity Proven.

"Instead of crumbling into a chaos of discordant elements, America proved its truly national unity. It demonstrated conclusively that there is a spiritual quality shared by all races and conditions of men which is their universal heritage and common nature."

From that answer he drew this tremendous lesson and hope, saying:

"It was seeking proof of a basic brotherhood among all races of men; it was seeking to challenge the rights of the individual; it was seeking to find a unity capable of assuring peace to the nations in such an inquiry I suppose no better testimony could be taken than the experience of this country."

"If fraternity and cooperation are possible on the scale of this continent among people so widely diverse, why not on the scale of a world? It is not a new thought, but it is a profoundly engaging one. I firmly believe it is more than a chimera. I feel it is possible of realization."

The President gave the lesson specific illustration. He pointed to the Scandinavian birth and Scandinavian descent living happily and contentedly now

Indict Motorist Whose Auto Killed Girl; Woman Injured

An indictment for automobile manslaughter was reported to have been voted by the grand jury yesterday against Howard Finley of Robbins, Ill., whose auto struck and killed Geraldine Cleary, 9 years old, 4319 Emerald avenue.

Witnesses testified before the grand jury, it was said, that Finley, at the time of the accident, which occurred at Western avenue and West 51st street, was intoxicated.

Injured by Fire Truck.

An Evanston automobile fire truck crashed into an automobile at University place and Sheridan road, Evanston, yesterday, inflicting probable fatal injuries on Mrs. C. A. Meister, 35 years old, Ashland, O.

With her husband, Mrs. Meister was riding north in Sheridan road when the fire truck, driven by Frank Dider, turned the corner short, however, and crashed into the parked automobile, smashing its rear end.

Hurled from Rear Seat.

Mrs. Meister, sitting in the rear seat, was hurled forward, and received severe cuts and bruises and internal injuries. She was taken to the Evanston hospital. Meister was uninjured.

There was but one motor fatality in Cook county yesterday. It raised the death toll since Jan. 1 to 306.

Harold Kessler, 25 years old, 1529 Chicago avenue, Evanston, a county motorcycle policeman, was fatally injured when he was thrown from his machine while chasing a speeder in Milwaukee road. He died late last night in St. Francis hospital, Evanston.

Michael Pfaff, 18 years old, 2136 Roosevelt street, was killed in a DuPage county accident last Sunday. A woman killed by a speeding automobile at 32d and Halsted streets Sunday was yesterday identified as Mrs. Estelle Welchman, 23 years old, 377 East 23d street.

for generations with the people of other origins.

"Minnesota," he said, "would not be Minnesota, the ground of imperial northwest states would not be what they are, but for the contribution that has been made to them by the Scandinavian countries."

He spoke feelingly to the people whose fathers and mothers had come from the old land into this new land and had made it bloom. This was the tribute:

"Their glory is all about you, their living and their mighty dead."

When he considered the work the forefathers had done and the work that he could not but believe that their coming was inspired by a Higher Power.

One of the Great Ingredients.

"I can only describe it as a great reality—something vital, firm, and abiding."

Yes, there was a great inheritance, he told the multitude, and an enormous power had been passed on to them. "These are the ingredients."

"But you are charged with equally enormous responsibilities. Those responsibilities you have never failed to meet. That power you have never failed to exercise. Therein will be the sole title to all the glory that you will achieve in the future."

He believed they would keep the faith of their fathers, and in a tone of solitude and with slow utterance he said:

"Believing that there resides in an enlightened people an all compelling force for righteousness, I have every faith that through the vigorous performance of your duties you will add new lustre to your glory in the days to come."

Children Cheer Guest.

Children—thousands upon thousands of them—lingering the route of the President's progress—have been the spectacular feature of this day. The schools were closed in honor of Mr. Coolidge's visit, and Commissioner of Education the Rev. Dr. L. R. S. Ferguson son and his aids massed the little people along the route. Each child carried a tiny American flag.

The weather is almost too cool. Save for a brief spatter while the President was speaking, the rain has held off, but he spoke beneath scudding clouds.

Tonight Cass Gilbert's architectural masterpiece, the capitol of the state, is ablaze with light, and Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge are shaking hands with thousands of citizens.

The President said this evening that he had never spent a happier day.

At the luncheon the Norse gave in honor of the President and his wife the noon the company were served with Norwegian flat bread and Norwegian fish pudding, and they drank the Royal Farris water shipped to America from King Haakon's springs at Larvik, in Norway.

Grieg's "Peer Gynt" music is being played frequently by the bands and everywhere the Norwegian flag, with its cross of blue and white on a crimson background, is flying alongside the Stars and Stripes.

SERGEANT ZABEL MEETS ROBBERS CAPTURES ONE

Serg. Otto Zabel, who for years has traveled a beat out of North Robey street police station, has a reputation among fellow policemen for being unusually quick in drawing his gun.

He vindicated this reputation last night. Two robbers, met him at the mouth of an alley between Hoyne and Hamilton avenues. They shouted, "Stick 'em up!"

"Sure; here's my roll," said Zabel and reached inside his coat. A second later one of the stickup men was lying in the alley, a bullet wound in the abdomen, and the other was fleeing with a bullet in his arm.

The captured bandit gave his name as Edward Moore, 2587 Haddon avenue. He admits having served time in Pontiac. He said the man who escaped was his brother, Earl.

Watch Your Canary's Diet

Any bird doctor will tell you to exercise great care in selecting food for your canary, and the best suggestion he could make would be Kaempfer's.

Kaempfer's Prime Selected Bird Seed is super-cleaned to make it pure and sparkling. Each package is filled to the top with food that insures health.

Go to your neighborhood dealer and ask for Kaempfer's by name—most drug, department, grocery, fruit, and bird stores carry it. Insist on Kaempfer's.

SEND FOR BOOKLET

Every canary owner should have a copy of the "Care and Feeding of Canaries." Send in 10c in stamps. This informative booklet tells you how to keep your canary healthy, how to breed him, and how to keep his health.

KYLE INDICTMENT IN AUTO KILLING IS REINSTATED

Hands of Death

The hands of the clock indicate the number of deaths by autos, guns, and moonshine in Cook county since Jan. 1. Yesterday was the one hundred and fifty-ninth day of 1925.

WEALTHY BROKER JAILED, THEN FREED ON BAIL.

Convicted once for manslaughter with an automobile, Joseph F. Kyle, wealthy real estate broker, was again taken into custody yesterday after Chief Justice Joseph Hopkins of the Criminal court reinstated the manslaughter indictment and issued a capias for his arrest.

Kyle was found in his real estate office at 1500 East 53d street by Deputy Sheriff Walter Van Horn and David Edlitz. After being arrested, he was taken to the Hyde Park police station and then to the county jail.

Bail Is Approved.

Later in the day Kyle appeared before Judge Charles A. Williams, who approved a $10,000 bond signed by Ellen M. Staal of 5400 Harper avenue. "I've got plenty to say, but I'm talking to myself," Kyle said as he left the Criminal court building. Last Saturday after Judge William J. Lishsey freed him his attorney, Charles Darrow, remarked: "Well, everybody seems to be satisfied."

State's Attorney Crowe, however, didn't seem to be satisfied. The prosecutor went before Judge Hopkins and asked that the indictment against Kyle charging him with automobile manslaughter be reinstated.

"There have been too many auto killings to allow this case to be dropped," State's Attorney Crowe said. "Kyle was convicted once by a jury. The only way he will be able to get his freedom will be for another jury to pass on his case."

Much Talk of Fixing.

Ever since the morning of July 21, 1923, when Kyle's automobile crashed into a light truck that resulted in the death of Charles C. Hudson, an 89 year old farmer, there has been talk that money would be able to fix the manslaughter charge, Mr. Crowe said.

The jury that convicted Kyle recommended that he be sent to the penitentiary for a term of one year to life.

Kyle paid $12,500 to the family of his victim as a settlement.

BOY DROWNED WHEN COMPANION ROCKS ROWBOAT

Harold Levine, 11 years old, 1510 Rosemont avenue, was drowned yesterday when the rowboat in which he and three other companions were riding tipped over in the lake off Thorndale avenue. The boys had been rocking the boat. The others swam to safety, but the Levine boy failed to appear after the boat had overturned.

His companions were Robert Watt, 11 years old, 1241 Early avenue, Herbert Nichols, 13 years old, 1510 Rosemont avenue, and a third boy whose name the police were unable to learn.

Archie Moody, colored, 11 years old, 2973 Vernon avenue, was drowned late yesterday afternoon when he was seized with cramps while trying to swim from a raft to the shore at the foot of East 40th street.

LAKE FOREST RECLUSE DIES.

Thomas Johnson, 60 years old, and for thirty years a recluse, died yesterday in the County hospital. Police were advised that he was a recluse, and was living in Chicago. Johnson was a street sweeper in Lake Forest.

FEAR ONE OF THE MARX BROTHERS AMNESIA VICTIM

Detroit, Mich., June 8.—(AP)—Working on the theory that he has temporarily lost his memory because of the heat, police tonight were searching for Leo Marx, New York actor, who disappeared Saturday night. Marx left his dressing room in a local theater just before the final curtain Saturday night, saying he was going outside to get some air, as he did not feel well. He has not been heard of since.

Marx is one of the four Marx brothers who are appearing in a musical comedy which came to Detroit after a long run in New York and Chicago.

Marx went from the theater to a nearby leather goods store and purchased a hand bag, offering a $50 bill. When the proprietor could not change it, the purchaser told him who he was and took the bag, saying he would get the bill changed and pay for it later.

Jap "Humiliation Day" to Protest Immigration Ban

(Copyright 1925 by The New York Times.)

TOKIO, June 8.—Plans for a "national humiliation day" to be held throughout Japan on July 1, the anniversary of the date on which the American immigration act became effective, are being made by the Pacific Civilization society and other organizations. The movement is not designed to start a agitation against America, the leaders insist, but merely to emphasize that the indignation created by the exclusion clause has not died out in Japan.

First Brick, Then
Tile, Then Brick.

In the first of a series of public hearings ordered by the city council on the use of brick in building construction, it was revealed yesterday that the council building and zoning committee has had a strange and sudden change of heart.

The controversy, which to a lay person may appear a dull and prosaic proceeding, has developed vast importance since over a period of years it has been declared to affect the expenditure of millions in the cost of construction.

Brickmakers Fight Change.

The question is: Shall brick or hollow tile be used in the construction of buildings?

The brickmakers for years have successfully been fighting an amendment to the building code allowing the use of hollow tile. It is admitted that tile would materially cut down building costs. The tilemakers say that the brick men are fighting it because it would cut down the use of brick also.

Several weeks ago the building and zoning committee was all for tile. Facts, figures, and proof that tile under conditions was as good and as strong as brick for retaining wall construction, had been given the committee members. They said they were for it, prepared an ordinance, and it was adopted by the city council.

But Mayor Dever was a bit chary. He returned the ordinance without his signature. He pointed out that the ordinance had been adopted along with a lot of other measures, and without discussion, on an omnibus or general roll call. And he suggested that the advice of the federal bureau of standards be sought in the planned revision of the building code.

Recommend Killing It.

Mayor Dever did not suggest that the measure be killed, but that is what the committee on building and zoning recommended after two public hearings.

And therein was revealed the committee's strange and sudden change of heart, for the change came, it is disclosed, because of the eloquence and logic with which William Schlake, president of the Illinois Brick company, denounced tile as unsafe.

But the council refused to accept the building committee's recommendation that the proposed ordinance lifting the ban on tile be forgotten. After a stormy debate led by Alderman C. E. Eaton (5th), Guy Guernsey (6th), William Meyer (8th), D. S. McKinley (19th), and Arthur Albert (4th), the building committee was ordered to schedule a new series of public hearings on the measure, and yesterday's was the first of these.

Reveal Unusual Situation.

And as yesterday's hearing opened an unusual situation was revealed. It was disclosed that minutes of the two previous public hearings at which the amendment was ordered "forgotten" were not written up by the official council clerk, but by the secretary to Mr. Schlake, head of brick interests.

Not the dry distasteful reading that

Scopes and His Counsel Draw Plans for Defense

HUGHES MAY LEAD

New York, June 8.—(AP)—The New York World tomorrow will say that former Secretary of State Charles Evans Hughes may be asked to direct the defense of John T. Scopes. The newspaper will say that a large influential group of men listed among those of liberal thought have reached the conclusion that Clarence Darrow, the Chicago lawyer, who is the choice of Mr. Scopes, would not be a fortunate selection. Mr. Darrow arrives tomorrow for a conference with Scopes.

New York, June 8.—John T. Scopes, young high school teacher of Dayton, Tenn., who is to be tried next month for violating the state law against teaching evolution, conferred with New York lawyers and scientists today on plans for his defense.

His senior counsel, John R. Neal, former dean of the University of Tennessee, arrived here today.

Scopes and Neal called on Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, president of the American Museum of Natural History and one of the foremost American authorities on the Darwinian theory. Dr. Osborn declined to go to Tennessee as a scientific witness for the defense, but agreed to serve on meeting minutes generally are. In deed, highly colorful and human-like and interesting. They told how "the opening talk of the meeting was by Mr. Schlake, who suggested that the interests represented by him did not desire any change in the present building code and it was up to the proponents of a change to state their case."

What Mr. Schlake Did.

Then that Attorney Daniel Healy defended the tile ordinance and that he "represented figures purporting to come from the U. S. Bureau of Standards. And then this:

"Mr. William Schlake was the next speaker and he proceeded to ridicule Mr. Healy's argument to a frazzle. He stated it was the silliest kind of bunk. . . . He ridiculed the tests of Mr. Baker. . . . He praised Chicago's building code. . . .

It would appear from the interesting minutes written by Mr. Schlake's secretary that Mr. Schlake did a preponderance of the talking at the meeting in question and that he annihilated all the proponents of hollow tile.

Woodhull Interrupts Clerk.

These minutes came out when the meeting opened yesterday. Ald. Coughlin (1st), offered the stenographic record "of the two previous meetings. He insisted the clerk must read them. The minutes had been handed Ald. Coughlin by Ald. H. W. Flick (20th), who had received them from Ald. John Powers (15th).

The clerk started to read and when he came to the "proceeded to ridicule Mr. Healy's argument to a frazzle," Ald. R. A. Woodhull (7th), representing Mayor Dever in the proceedings, interrupted.

"Stop right there!" Ald. Woodhull shouted. "I demand to know who prepared these supposed minutes!" Ald. Coughlin, Powers, and Flick jumped up. . . . they shouted in unison. . . .

"Was it the clerk of the committee or who was it?" Ald. Woodhull insisted. "If it was the clerk, why does the report not show what actually was said? Why does it contain some one's conclusions as the strength or effect of an argument? I demand an answer!"

Ald. Coughlin, Ald. Flick, and Ald. Powers did not know what to say.

Who Prepared the Minutes?

"Who prepared these minutes?" Ald. Woodhull demanded again. Finally Ald. Coughlin admitted it. "I got them from Schlake," he said. H. L. Whitmore of the U. S. bureau of standards then told the committee that hollow tile used in supporting wall construction, with either of two qualities of cement mortar, is as safe as brick. He said every known test has proved this conclusively. The tests were made, he added, at the suggestion of Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, with the view to cutting down the prohibitive building costs without sacrifice to safety.

Mr. Schlake admitted that a virtual brick monopoly exists in Chicago.

an advisory board of lawyers and scientists.

Teacher Given Advice.

Dr. Osborn gave Scopes much advice, especially as to the choice of a lawyer. As a final word of advice, Dr. Osborn warned Scopes not to become marked with radicalism in preparing for his trial. This had no effect on Scopes, however, with respect to his association with the Civil Liberties union, which will finance the trial. He attended a luncheon given by that organization in an atmosphere that was decidedly radical.

Scopes Wants Darrow.

Difference of opinion arose between Scopes and members of the union as to the choice of the trial counsel. Scopes held out for Clarence Darrow of Chicago. Scopes said he regarded Darrow as a great lawyer and just the right man to give the Dayton trial the status of a epoch-making case.

Scopes said the people of Tennessee were behind him in wanting Darrow, and that they expected the Chicago lawyer to be in Dayton. Others argued that the trial lawyer should be some one whose religious beliefs could not be attacked by the fundamentalists.

EVOLUTION CALLED FACT.

There was no doubt about Prof. John M. Coulter's stand on the evolution question after he got through talking to the weekly luncheon of Advertising Men's post of the American Legion at the Sherman hotel yesterday.

"Scientists almost universally accept evolution as a fact," he said, and he is head of the botany department of the University of Chicago. "Any doubts they have are concerned not with evolution but with the theories that explain it."

UNCLE SAM TO GIVE CHICAGO NEW FOGHORN

Milder Toned Device to Be Placed on Crib.

Washington, D. C., June 8.—[Special.]—Relief for the ear drums of Chicago north alders who live within range of the harbor fog horn is in sight. Officials of the lighthouse bureau, announced today that negotiations are under way for the use of one of the cribs as a base for the warning device. As soon as they can be completed, it was said, the horn will be moved.

Milder Toned Horn.

This will not mean, however, that the Chicago harbor lighthouse will be "dehorned." According to officials, it will still be necessary to have some sort of a warning signal at the mouth of the river. But the new horn, it was said, will be much softer spoken than the present one.

Officials of the bureau pointed out that about seven-eighths of the trouble lay with Chicago. The trouble, Uncle Sam says, is the smoke. During the last year while the harbor horn was broadcasting for a total of 1,293 hours, its lesser brother on Gross Point, in Evanston worked only 188 hours.

George R. Putnam, lighthouse bureau chief, admits the horn makes a terrible noise, that it is disagreeable, that he would not like to be one of its near neighbors. At the same time he points to the fact that his bureau is charged with the safety of life and property at sea.

Why Horn was Placed.

"Before the days of the municipal pier, the harbor horn was placed at the end of the breakwater just to the north of the pier," he said. "Then the pier was built. In order to afford a breakwater, the breakwater was extended in front of the east end of the pier almost to the line extending eastward from the mouth of the river. Then at a later date another breakwater to the south of the river entrance was constructed leaving only an entrance between five and six hundred feet wide for boats entering the river. The horn had to be placed at the entrance of the river. Because of the necessity for a louder warning for ships, the new horn of the telephone type was installed.

"Chicago is one of the leading ports on Lake Michigan in passenger traffic, and ships must be protected. Without a fog horn, it is impossible to warn ship masters of danger."

EXHAUST CLEWS IN LOUISIANA U. AX SLAYER HUNT

Baton Rouge, La., June 8.—(AP)—With every clue apparently exhausted, the authorities investigating the killing here yesterday with an ax of Oscar B. Turner, instructor at Louisiana State university, were today admitted considering the possibility that the crime may remain unsolved.

Continuation of the coroner's inquest, which had been in session most of today, was fruitless. Eight students, among them two Chinese, were summoned and took the stand, but their testimony failed to disclose any new facts concerning the case.

Robbery, a possible case of jealousy, an old enemy, and a student either inflamed with hatred against the dead instructor or caught rifling a desk from which examination papers were missed, were the only motives to go on, and they led to nothing.

NEGRO DIVISION A NIGHTMARE, SAYS BULLARD

Failed to Meet Test as Soldiers.

BY GEN. ROBERT LEE BULLARD.
(Who commanded the 22d division, then the 23d corps, and finally led the Second army of the United States.)
[As these are personal memories of experiences, the pronoun "I" can never be out of sight. I am not offering these memories as absolute fact, but as my impressions and belief at the time.—R. L. Bullard.]

SECTION XXIV.
[Continuing the chapter on the 22d Division of Negro troops.]

All this constructive equality I regarded as an injustice; it is not. So I now inquired carefully into the matter, and found that in the battle of the Meuse-Argonne a part of the 22d division, beside the French in battle, had twice run away from in front of the enemy, causing the French, for their own safety, to request the relief of the Negro division from the fighting line.

Some thirty Negro officers were involved in this running away. Five—the clearest cases and supposed leaders of the movement—only five, had been selected for trial by the law officers of the 2d army. A court martial, composed of officers from another, a white division, had been ordered for this purpose.

Negro Officers Condemned to Death.
Before this court one Negro officer had been tried, convicted, and sentenced to death. It started me, for much experience and observation in such matters had taught me that where even the most exact justice is meted out by white men alone it becomes a Negro injustice and converts them in the eyes of their fellows into martyrs for the race.

I therefore at once ordered the court to suspend trial upon the other cases and determined personally to investigate the whole matter and see the state of mind of the Negroes of the 22d division before I should proceed any further with the trials.

It took about a week for me to complete this investigation. It developed a lack of feeling among the Negroes of the division, a general lack of concern in the whole matter. Many of them knew nothing and almost all of them cared nothing about it. Those who knew seemed to believe that the white court martial would give justice, and especially a court martial composed of officers of another division. The same investigation also developed that there were some fifty other Negro officers of the division who were at that time being examined as to fitness to retain their commissions all before boards of white officers.

Trials for Cowardice.
I ordered all of these boards to suspend their work of examination. But I had in the end to allow the court martial, having once begun, to continue its trial of the four or five leading cases charged with cowardice. All five were found guilty and sentenced as the first, exactly. I felt sure, as any white man would have been sentenced. Yet I knew that these Negroes could not be held as responsible as white men, and I deliberately set about finding any possible flaw that would excuse an upsetting of all of the proceedings.

To this end I called to my assistance Gen. E. A. Kruger, judge advocate's department, representing the war department in the American expeditionary forces. He it was who should finally review these cases. He could at the time find no flaw in them, but later he or some other did find one flaw in one case. The last man tried testified in his own behalf that his own captain, who was killed in the run-away, had given him orders to run!

There was no other living witness to this captain's order; the captain himself was dead. So the case against the accused was completely disproved and he was set free on the ground of uncontroverted evidence of having received an order to run!

I forwarded these cases for final consideration by the President with the recommendation that they all be let off from all punishment. I felt perfectly sure that it would so result, and so it did. In 1919, a year later, the President ordered them all released.

As I now remember it, the other twenty-five officers and the rest of the battalion escaped everything, even reproof.

The 22d division had a complement of exceptionally good higher officers and general staff, mostly white regular officers whom I knew. But among them all, except the general in command of the division, I found when I made the investigation of their charges of cowardice the most profound discouragement. Not one of them believed that the 22d division would ever be worth anything as soldiers. Every one of them would have given anything to have been transferred to any other duty. It was the most pitiful case of discouragement that I have ever seen among soldiers.

Not a Successful Division.
The Negro division (diary, Nov. 1) seems in a fair way to be a failure. It is in a quiet sector, yet can hardly take care of itself, while the other offensive action seems wholly beyond its powers. I have been here now with it three weeks and have been unable to have it make a single raid upon the enemy. They are really inferior soldiers. There is no denying it. Their Negro officers have an inadequate idea of what is expected of soldiers, and their white officers are too few to lighten the load.

Spent the day (diary, Nov. 5) going about the army and seeing. I saw especially the Negroes, the 22d division, which, after more than a month in the trenches, cannot yet make a raid. It failed again on one today. Poor Negroes! They are hopelessly inferior. I've been talking with them individually about their division's success. That success is not troubling them. With every one feeling and saying that they are worthless as soldiers, they are going on quite unconcernedly.

Negroes Unable to Make a Raid.
The 22d Negro division is not making much, if any, progress toward efficiency, and I am afraid it never will be worth anything as a fighting unit. Its division commanding general is not very strong as a military man. I'm inclined to think he will have to be S. O. S. and I'll have to have this done.

From about Oct. 25 then until a few days before armistice I put forth every effort to have this division execute some offensive operation, as a raid, against the enemy. The division was large and composed of exceptionally husky, vigorous looking soldiers, well equipped. The enemy troops against them were of second or third class, not by any means the best. I provided the most skilled French and American advisers and instructors for them in an effort to have them execute a successful raid. I never succeeded even to a slight degree. As I remember, in those three weeks this division of some 27,000 men captured one German!

Could Not Stand Bombardment.
The Negroes were a great disappointment. This experience did not agree with the experience of the regular army of the United States with Negro soldiers. I could not ascribe the failure to the poor quality of their higher officers. These officers generally, as I have said, were good, in most cases excellent. The French had had like experience with their Negro troops in their front line trenches against the enemy. The Negro, it seems, cannot stand bombardment.

Two or three days before the armistice I resolved to attack the enemy with my whole army. Before I could put my resolution into effect I received an order from Gen. Pershing to do just what I had decided to do. The order was given to the 22d division as to the rest of the 2d army. The division made no impression of consequence upon the enemy.

The poor 22d Negroes (diary, Nov. 13) "wasted time and dawdled where they did attack and in some places where they should have attacked, never budged at all. It seems to be as much the fault of the general as of the Negroes." "Two days ago" (diary, Nov. 12) for a week to be given over entirely to a dangerous, irritating race question that had nothing to do with war making, the paramount matter of the time. I fear that it will always be so with Negroes wherever they are in contact with whites. This thought and my experience led me to this conclusion. If you need combat soldiers, and especially if you need them in a hurry, don't put your time upon Negroes. Soldier making and fighting with them, if there are any white people near, will be swamped in the race question. If racial uplift or racial equality is your purpose, that is another matter.

(To be continued tomorrow.)
Views of the French People.
It is commonly believed among Americans that French people have no objections to Negroes, but this I quickly found was an error. While there were very few French people in the region occupied by this division, they were not happy to have the Negroes among them. The Negro is a more sensual man than the white man and at the same time he is far more offensive to white women than a white man is. The little acts of familiarity that would pass unnoticed in a white man becomes with white women the cause of complaint against the Negro. This special Negro division was already charged with fifteen cases of rape.

For these reasons immediately after the armistice I recommended in effect that this division be sent home first of all American troops, that they be sent home in all honor, but above all, that they be sent quick. The answer came that Marshall and Foch would not, pending peace, approve the transfer of any division back to the United States.

Gets 22d Sent Home First.
In answer I told the American headquarters to say to Marshall Foch that no man could be responsible for the acts of these Negroes toward French women, and that he had better send this division home at once. This belief, the very first division to be sent home. I was told that the division was received at home with great glorification. I was perfectly willing that it should be; the American army abroad was relieved.

My own sense of relief can be understood when I say that, while a part of the division was waiting for its railroad trains to move it to its port of embarkation, among other things, one French woman complained that she was ravished by five 22d division soldiers.

Altogether my memories of the 22d Negro division are a nightmare. When all my thought, time, and effort were needed to make war against a powerful enemy they had for a week to be given over entirely to a dangerous, irritating race question that had nothing to do with war making, the paramount matter of the time. I fear that it will always be so with Negroes wherever they are in contact with whites. This thought and my experience led me to this conclusion. If you need combat soldiers, and especially if you need them in a hurry, don't put your time upon Negroes. Soldier making and fighting with them, if there are any white people near, will be swamped in the race question. If racial uplift or racial equality is your purpose, that is another matter.

She marked the beginning and the end of England's monstrous penal system.
She has held lurid horror and dreadful iniquities beside which even the terrible stories of the Black Hole of Calcutta and the Spanish Inquisition pale into insignificance.
She is the oldest ship in the world and the only convict ship left afloat out of that dreadful "Fleet of Ocean Hell" which sailed the Seven Seas in 1790, A. D.
She is unchanged after all these years, nothing being omitted but her human freight and their sufferings from the cruelties and barbarities practiced upon them.
Aboard her are now shown, in their original state, all the airless dungeons and condemned cells, the whipping post, manacles, the branding irons, the punishment balls, the leaden tipped cat-o'-nine tails, the coffin bath and the other fiendish inventions of man's brutality to his fellow-man.
From keel to topmast she cries aloud the greatest lesson the world has ever known in the history of human progress.

The Convict Ship "Success" is the Greatest and Most Extraordinary Exhibition that ever visited America. It is a theme for the pen of a Dante. When you walk her decks grooved with the chains of her miserable victims, the past will speak to you its sad and mournful lesson, but you will leave feeling better because you live in a better age.

There is universal need for a new system of brakes. Such a contrivance would save numerous lives, vast sums of money, add to human happiness and increase life's span of years.

So far as you are concerned you can secure these benefits by having a thorough physical examination made by your physician at least once a year—and by taking your physical life as him before they become serious.

40 HOUR BATTLE FAILS TO DECIDE FATE OF CANTON

Gunboats Pour Heavy Fire on Yunanese.

BULLETIN.

PEKING, June 9.—(AP)—The Chinese Bankers' association has promised the students to back their efforts to boycott British and Japanese banknotes. A special dispatch from Kalgan says Gen. Feng Yihsiang, the "Christian general," has circled the provincial governors recommending a firm attitude in the face of "the unreasoning and bellicose stand of the Shanghai authorities and part of the diplomatic corps at Peking." He declares the national army is willing to make sacrifices for the nation.

CANTON, China, June 8.—(AP)—Fighting that commenced at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon between Yunanese and Cantonese troops has continued incessantly for forty hours, but so far as is known has resulted in only slight casualties.

Early today four Cantonese gunboats appeared around the island of Honan, opposite Canton, and opened heavy fire directly on the bank. The Yunanese answered from the shore. The gunboats passed Dutch Police Island, turned and then came back again, pouring in heavy fire from small guns and machine guns, finally disappearing around the island.

Three thousand Cantonese troops arrived last night from Patsan and now are at Shek-Wai-Tong station, across the river.

Two Japanese destroyers arrived at Canton yesterday.

Shanghai Strike Breaking Up.

SHANGHAI, June 8.—(AP)—While several thousand Chinese strikers from various walks of life resumed their work today, more than 5,000 workers, principally cotton mill employees, residing in Chinese territory, quit their tasks under direct threats of agitators menacing their homes. The general indication throughout the city was that the strike situation was improving.

Efforts of the anti-foreign demonstration engineering the general strike are being concentrated against the Japanese and British. This was evidenced this afternoon at a Chinese mass meeting at which speakers advised workers attached to nationals of countries other than Japan and Great Britain to resume employment.

Some forty cases growing out of disturbances incidental to the strike are scheduled for hearing in the Shanghai

U. S. DRIVE TO MOP UP BIG CITIES IS MAPPED IN SECRET CONCLAVE

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., June 8.—(Special.)—A sweeping campaign to dry up the big cities was inaugurated by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lincoln C. Andrews today at a secret conference with the principal enforcement officers of the country.

When the session broke up, none of the twenty men who had been elected in the room for honest talk about what happened inside.

It was learned, however, that the meeting heralded the opening of the government's land drive for prohibition enforcement, following the spectacular success of Secretary Andrews against rum row.

mixed court tomorrow. This court, with its Chinese magistrate and foreign assessor, is being opposed by Chinese agitators for the strike, who object to the court's having jurisdiction over Chinese residing in the foreign settlements.

Peking Sends 2,000 Troops.

Interest has been aroused here by receipt of reports from Peking that the central government, according to a petition of student leaders there, is ordering 2,000 troops under Lu Tung-Hsiang to Shanghai.

Shanghai continues on a military basis. Members of the American women's club are busy making mosquito nets for the guards encamped in the western addition.

Two hundred marines from the Japanese ship Tatsuta were landed this morning. Two Japanese gunboats and two Japanese destroyers proceeded up the Yangtze river to protect foreigners at upper parts of that river; two other Japanese destroyers arrived and will remain at Shanghai.

Diplomatic Quits Pleases Chinese.

PEKING, June 8.—(AP)—The delegation appointed by the foreign legations to investigate the rioting growing out of the strike in the Japanese owned cotton mills at Shanghai, left for that city this morning and should arrive in from 48 to 60 hours.

Appointment of the delegation, which consists of the secretaries of the various legations, has created a good impression among the Chinese and is giving the authorities and the conservative unofficial element a heads upon which to appeal for moderation.

Dispatches from Kalgan, in Honan province, report that the strike and the student movement against foreigners have created a serious situation there. Private advices from Tientsin, Shantung province, say rioters damaged the plant of the Asiatic Petroleum company.

COOLER WEATHER ARRIVES; IT WILL STAY A WHILE

Wind Uproots Trees and Injures Woman.

Some of the cool weather the west has been enjoying reached Chicago and the remainder of the Great Lakes region early last evening and will be here in force today, according to official weather predictions. Temperatures in the low seventies are in prospect for today.

While the official thermometer readings reached a maximum of 83 degrees at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, a cool and strong west breeze kept the high temperature from being oppressive. All evening the mercury dropped gradually and at 2 o'clock this morning stood at 71.

To Be Cool Tomorrow Also.

The pleasant temperature promised for today will be followed by similar agreeable conditions tomorrow. A decrease in the humidity will add to the happiness of the break in the record June heat spell.

One woman was injured, a drug store window was blown in and the display ruined, and many trees were blown down by a 11 mile an hour wind yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Alfonso Paulina, 832 South Claremont avenue, while in front of 830 South Claremont avenue, was knocked down and her right ankle was fractured when a limb blew down by the wind struck her. She was taken to the County hospital.

Wave Costs 605 Lives.

A total of 605 lives were lost during the heat wave through the country, being one of the most disastrous in history, establishing a death toll of more than half as large as that which marked the sinking of the Lusitania.

The death toll from the heat wave as compiled by the United Press follows:

New York state.....	181
Pennsylvania.....	140
New Eng. states.....	67
Ohio.....	40
Illinois.....	30
Michigan.....	33
Maryland.....	23
Wisconsin.....	18
Washington, D. C.....	14
Indiana.....	11

The entire east from Maine to Virginia which was blistered for six days found relief yesterday. Showers fell in many places and the temperature dropped down to the seventies. New York City enjoyed a temperature never above 70 during the day.

In New York during the hot spell last week a total of 36,000 persons slept in the parks. It is announced that they harmed no shrubs and that there were no arrests.

BELGIAN COMMISSION COMING IN JULY FOR CONFERENCE ON DEBT

Washington, D. C., June 8.—(AP)—An official commission appointed by the Belgian government to negotiate with American authorities for the settlement of the war debt owed the United States will visit this country in July.

The Belgian government advised Washington authorities today that the commission would be headed by former Premier Theunis and the head of the Bank of Belgium.

A. E. F. ARTILLERY
CHIEF DIES IN PARIS CAR CRASH

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS, June 8.—An American wearing the rosette of the Legion of Honor and carrying papers indicating that he was Brig. Gen. William Chamberlain, a distinguished A. E. F. commander, was killed early this morning in the Latin quarter when a taxi in which he was riding crashed full speed into a surface car.

Gen. Chamberlain was rushed to a hospital but he died a few minutes later without regaining consciousness. Gen. Chamberlain had a distinguished army record. He was chief of the railway artillery of the American army, in charge of the big gun operations at Belleau wood and in the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Artois operations.

He commanded the 2d division of artillery in May and June, 1918.

Three Hurt When Motorbus
Crashes Into Automobile

Three colored men were injured, one of them perhaps fatally, and more than a score of passengers on a motor coach were severely shaken up last night when the coach crashed into the automobile in which the men were riding at Englewood avenue and Normal boulevard. The injured, all of whom were taken to the Provident hospital, are Daniel Graves, 4440 South Wabash avenue, cut and bruised and interval injured; L. B. Macklin, 4720 South Wabash avenue, severely cut and bruised; and Lee Bunch, 4440 South Wabash avenue, ribs crushed. Graves probably will die.

H. S. TEACHERS RENEW FIGHT FOR COUNCIL CONFABS

First efforts by Chicago school teachers to seek reinstatement of teachers' councils on school time, in the regime of the new trustees was made yesterday by the High School Teachers' council.

Yesterday they circulated petitions in all of the high schools calling upon the superintendent to permit meetings during school hours. The petition asks that they be permitted to meet on regular school time for forty-five minutes, four times a year.

At the same time the organization's president A. E. Bayman, appointed committees to plead their cause with members of the board of education. The city council by resolution also has asked for the return of the teachers' meetings.

Trustee John A. English is the only new trustee who is on record as favoring reinstatement. The others are non-committal.

HOLD UP STORE IN LOOP WHILE THOUSANDS PASS

Saturday's receipts from the sale of straw hats, amounting to $1,000, were stolen by two bandits yesterday from the Kaufman Hat company, 31 South Dearborn street. One bandit held up the clerk in charge, the other picked the combination of the locked safe. Thousands of persons passed the door in the five minutes the robbery consumed.

Walter E. Does, 3334 Hutchinson street, was the clerk. He told the police that a man came in and asked to have his cap stretched. When Does took the cap to a back room, the man followed and shoved a gun against his back. Several minutes passed, then the bandit left him.

Does followed him out immediately, and saw the man, with a companion, leave himself in the passing crowd. Then he noticed that the safe door was open and its contents were gone. E. W. Hewley, the manager, told the police of the extent of the loss.

EXPECT TO FILL JURY TODAY IN SHEPHERD CASE

Crowe May Read His Statement Tomorrow.

Completion of the jury to try William D. Shepherd is expected today.
Last night when Judge Thomas J.
Lynch adjourned his branch of the Criminal court the attorneys said they would make whatever concessions were necessary to get the trial proper under way by tomorrow morning.

Eight jurors had been sworn in previous to yesterday. Two more were tentatively accepted by prosecution and defense, and the state had passed favorably on another at the conclusion of the session yesterday.

The twelfth was under examination.
State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe was anticipating the selection of the other jurors needed sometime today and will be ready to make the opening statement tomorrow morning. This, it is expected, will comprise the entire history of the McClintock fortune, which is the alleged motive for the murder of William McClintock, which the state charges against Shepherd, claiming he deliberately infected the youth with typhoid germs.

What Statement Will Say.

The death of Mrs. McClintock, sixteen years ago—she having then been a widow—may be recalled in the opening statement because of the charge that Shepherd then, for the first time, cast covetous eyes on the McClintock fortune. The story may also be told of how Mrs. Shepherd became guardian of 5 year old William McClintock and how she and her husband raised him to manhood.

The circumstances of young Mc-Clintock's making a will on his twenty-first birthday undoubtedly will be mentioned in the opening statement, as upon that act hinges the state's case;
it charges Shepherd killed the young millionaire after having him sign the will leaving his estate to Shepherd.

Mr. Crowe plans to give an account of the romance of young McClintock and Miss Isabelle Pope, because around that romance the tragedy is built, according to the state's theory of the case. It is intended to be shown that the couple planned to be married during the last winter and would have been long ago if the young man had not died of typhoid fever.

Stress Filled Wedding.

In the outline of what the state expects to prove there will be more than casual mention to the averted deathbed wedding, the prosecutors said, for Shepherd admitted having deliberately prevented such a marriage.

The money—it is estimated at approximately $1,000,000—the approaching marriage, and Charles C. Fairman will be the three big points to be covered in tomorrow's statement in a jury is obtained today. These will also later be the basis of the state's contention that Shepherd is guilty. Fairman's confession that he aided Shepherd by furnishing the typhoid germs with which to inoculate McClintock will be the apex of a pile of circumstantial evidence, the state's lawyers declared.

Free Edward Hillman Jr. on Charge of Robbery

Edward Hillman Jr., son of the wealthy department store owner, yesterday was discharged when he appeared before Police Magistrate Charles O. Franklin in Evanston on a charge of robbery. The complaining witness, Harry Elsner, manager of an Evanston garage, who had alleged Hillman pressed a gun to his side and drove out a car claimed by Hillman's wife, failed to appear.

DR. ADLER SAYS LOEB CAN'T BE CALLED INSANE

Dr. Herman Adler, who has been attending Richard Loeb during the mental disorder he has been suffering for a week, yesterday declared that he does not believe the young slayer of Robert Franks is insane.

"It would be hard to classify under a medical term the condition which Loeb has been in since he started to convalesce from an attack of measles," Dr. Adler said. "It is a very dis-ordered mental condition, but until we have time to observe him at greater length, we will not be able to determine just what is troubling him."

Loeb yesterday had become rational enough so that prison guards at Joliet removed the straps with which he has been confined to his bed.

June 30 is the last day upon which disabled world war veterans are eligible for vocational training under section 406 of the veterans' act of June, sued yesterday by the Chicago section of the American Red Cross.

A Message to Executives

The New LA SALLE Course and Service in Business Management

Product of 16 Years' Experience, Research, Testing and Refinement of the Best Business Practice

A Service distinct and apart from any business study ever before presented, and the last word in Business Management.

It is 16 years since LaSalle Extension University put out its first course in Business Administration—the mere listings in the advanced study of business.

Two years later a new and better course was issued. In five years that course was superseded by a thoroughly authoritative, practical and well-balanced course in executive training which, with revisions made from time to time, has become the acknowledged leader in this field. During this period LaSalle Extension University has trained more business executives than any other institution.

But much has been learned of business principles and practice during the last ten years. Practical men, through long experience, have discovered successful methods of organizing, directing, controlling and carrying on the varied activities of business.

For the last five years the Educational Division of LaSalle, with the co-operation of many successful business men and educators, has been investigating representative business practice—with a view (1) to establish definite objectives for its training in Business Management; and
(2) to determine and state the principles which constitute the foundation of successful management. These principles may be summarized under three major divisions, as follows:

- (1) Those economic principles which apply to the primary functions of business, designed to develop an all-around business viewpoint;
- (2) Those principles which apply to the main departments of business, setting forth the correct relations of departments and the true importance and place of each specialized activity;
- (3) Those principles which apply to administrative control, including problems of organization, reorganization, statistical control, personnel problems and the important matter of managing men.

LaSalle's achievement, in the building of this new course in Business Management, is that it has succeeded in defining a large number of sound principles of business management and presenting and illustrating them by the LaSalle Problem Method so that they can be quickly grasped and applied. Thousands of manuscripts and reports have been cast out, revised, abbreviated, boiled down and organized into

Two Parallel Business Highways

(ONE) A series of 100 business manuals which afford the high executive a valuable reference library and consultation service. Each executive manual is a complete unit in itself, fitting naturally and logically into the plan as a whole. The last two pages of each manual afford an original and unique method by which the busy business man who does not wish to submit written work can check himself up and rate himself.

(TWO) Paralleling the 100 texts is a complete executive training for those who desire to obtain a comprehensive understanding of business in its properly related functions and to master the science of management, i. e., how to apply business knowledge to management—the steering power of business. This training is built around the solving of practical business problems, furnished to LaSalle by some of the best known and most aggressive business houses in America.

Basic Divisions of the Training

One Hundred Executive Manuals Divided Into 13 Groups

(1) PRINCIPLES OF PROFITABLE MANAGEMENT—This first group includes basic economic principles and a preliminary survey of the problems and principles in each of the main departments and specialized activities in a business, as follows:

1. Applying Business Principles.
2. Economic Principles of Management.
3. Looking Ahead in Business.
4. Why Purchasing Power Practically.
5. Directing Sales and Traffic.
6. Service Last-Call Production.
7. Efficient Business Financing.
8. Effective Administrative Control.

(2) DEVELOPING THE EXECUTIVE MIND—Eight executive manuals covering practical, psychological principles that apply in all successful business management. This section shows the kind of effective thinking employed by successful men and develops a deep understanding of human nature.

9. The Mind in Business.
10. The Basic Executive Faculty.
11. The Four Great Thinking Faculties.
12. What Causes Us to Fail.
13. Human Habits and Business.
14. Building Up with Men as a Group.
15. The Psychology of Advertising.
16. The Psychology of Salesmanship.

(3) SELLING AND SALES MANAGEMENT—The work of every executive should be handled in the light of its importance on sales. This requires a thorough understanding of the principles and problems of sales management as presented in the following:

17. Scientists of Sales Management.
18. Analyzing Selling Activities.
19. The Psychology of Sales.
20. Principles of Personal Salesmanship.
21. Building Up the Sales Force.
22. Directing and Paying Salesmen.
23. Organizing Sales Promotion.
24. Control of Selling Costs.

(4) ADVERTISING AND MARKETING—Every executive in a business should also understand the principles and problems of Advertising and Marketing.

25. Promotional Advertising Pay Profit.
26. Making Advertising Pay Profit.
27. How to Prepare Effective Copy.
28. Techniques in Preparing Copy.
29. Directing the Advertising Campaign.
30. Selecting Advertising Principles.
31. Direct-by-Mail Advertising.
32. Organization for Advertising.

(5) PRINCIPLES OF PRODUCTION—In planning your work, no matter what that work is, and in routing it through for further handling, keeping down costs as well as indirect producing activity, knowledge of and ability to apply the principles that underlie efficient production are essential.

33. Problems of Plant Management.
34. Organizing for Control.
35. Plants and Equipment.

36. Control of Materials.
37. Control Time Planning.
38. Control Time Costs.
39. Directing New Power.
40. Wage Plans and Production Reports.

(6) FINANCING OF BUSINESS—Every activity in business has its financial aspects which every executive must thoroughly understand in relation to the financing of the operations and expansion of the business as a whole.

41. Starting a New Business.
42. Determining Capital Requirements.
43. Providing Capital.
44. Financial Statements and Loans.
45. Budgets, Economics, and Turnover.
46. Financing Reports and Imports.
47. Financing Reports and Exports.

(7) CREDITS AND COLLECTIONS—This seventh group is closely related to Group 6. The understanding of credits is an essential requirement of a well rounded and balanced training for any executive position.

48. Fundamentals of Credit Management.
49. Securing and Using Credit Funds.
50. Analysis of Statements.
51. Planning the Office Service.
52. Establishing Credit Policies.
53. Fundamentals of Collection.
54. Collection Procedure.

(8) OFFICE ORGANIZATION AND MANAGEMENT—Every business, large or small, has an office which serves every other department of the business. How to get the best co-operation from, or to give it to the office, means much in the success of every executive.

55. What the Office Produces.
56. Facilitating Business Dispatch.
57. Planning the Office Service.
58. How the Office Contributes to Control.
59. Providing Productive Working Conditions.
60. Developing the Office Staff.
61. Incentives to Effort.
62. Executive Control of the Office.

(9) MANAGING MEN—After a broad background of practice and principles in operating departments of a business comes the training that qualifies a man for the underlying fine art of managing men.

63. Developing Leadership.
64. Organizing Personal Responsibilities.
65. Compensation and Incentives.
66. Keeping the Organization Fit.
67. Co-operating in Management.
68. Supervision and Discipline.
69. Holding the Organization.

(10) ACCOUNTING AND STATISTICAL CONTROL—
After having acquired a full acquaintance with the demands of efficiency in every phase of business operation comes the need of the outstanding functions of accounting and statistitics as a means of efficient executive control of the business.

70. Executive Use of Accounting.
71. The Balance Sheet and Income Statement.
72. Principles of Accounting Procedure.
73. How to Use Financial Statements.
74. Analyzing and Presenting Statistics.
75. Preparing Budgets, Schedules and Quotas.
76. The Use of Reports in Executive Control.

(11) BUSINESS CORRESPONDENCE—Letters and house memoranda and bulletins are concerned with nearly all the varied operations of business. This group develops a man for the most common and insistent functions of business.

77. What Makes a Good Letter.
78. Selling by Letter.
81. General Business Correspondence.
82. Special Kinds of Letters.
83. Effective Use of Correct English.
84. Mechanical Elements in Correspondence.
85. Organizing the Work of Correspondence.

(12) ORGANIZATION AND REORGANIZATION—This twelfth basic group explains just how a new business is organized, how to select the best forms of organization and procedure in putting through the successful organization of a business.

86. Individual and Partnership Organization.
87. Corporations and Business Trusts.
88. Forms of Organizations Compared.
89. How to Form a New Corporation.
90. Rights of Owners and Creditors.
91. Establishing Control Procedure.
92. Procedure in Reorganizations.

(13) LEGAL PROBLEMS—In a business practice knowledge of well defined laws and legal principles—how to make valid contracts, legal relations of employer and employee, and on, is a part of every trained executive's kit of tools used in management. This last group makes plain the legal matters which round out this complete course in business management.

93. Making Valid Contracts.
94. Legal Relations of Employer and Employee.
95. Bills, Notes and Checks.
96. Property and Sales.
97. Partnership and Business Trusts.
98. Legal Method of Obtaining Security.
99. Settlements and Adjudications.
100. Federal Regulation of Business.

PRACTICAL REFERENCE GUIDE—The thirteen groups listed above comprise 100 assignments in this organized plan of training to meet the requirements for achieving substantial success in business. The arrangement is such as to make it more interesting, and more helpful as you proceed along logical lines. The entire plan is co-ordinated through a "master key" divided in three sections as follows:

- Digest of Management Principles.
- Index of Subjects, Cases, etc.
- Reference Guide by Lines of Business.

Distinctive Features of This New Business Training

PRINCIPLES IN BOLD-FACED TYPE—There are several distinctive features to this new Business Management Training and Service—the most important of which is the way the business principles are made to stand out from the rest of the text. For the first time in the history of business education, business principles are indented in bold-faced type to set them off from the body of the text. This is an epochal development in presenting the science of business.

HELP OF BIG MEN—Never before has a service in Business Management been produced to which so many successful and prominent men have personally contributed.

CONDENSATION—The material that has been analyzed and excluded from this service would fill a good sized library. Non-essentials have been eliminated. Only those principles and ideas which are of greatest importance are presented, and each principle is related primarily to some problem of production, sales or finance and their related activities such as Purchasing, Credits and Accounting. To the busy man this process of cutting out everything but the essentials is a valuable service, because it is a great time saver.

FITTED TO BUSY MEN—The simplicity of the service reflects the unrivaled experience of LaSalle Extension University in the field of adult education and is a recognition of the fact that busy business men like to read and think rather than to study and write.

This is a great advance in the teaching of Business Management because what the busy man wants is practice and experience in making sound decisions, based on typical business problems and a method of self-checking to see if the decision has been made correctly.

SPECIAL PROBLEMS—At the end of each manual you will find an actual business problem which will give you an opportunity to apply in a practical way the principles covered in the manual. Do not learn by doing?

EXECUTIVE REPORTS—These reports illustrate the successful application of important business principles in various lines of business, demonstrate the kind of analyzing done by successful executives, and show how it is possible to understand the outside factors which affect your business, and to anticipate the changes that these outside factors will have on your business.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORTS—A special service of individual reports on your immediate business problems, whether advertising, selling, production, finance or any other kind of business problem on which you desire special help from the research staff of LaSalle Extension University.

LECTURES—The choice of a wide variety of business monographs prepared by business men and educators who are specialists in varied fields of business—intended as supplementary reading and training.

OF CONCERN TO YOU

Business Management today is taking its place with the professions. Successful executives are recognized as men who arrive at their decisions in accordance with carefully worked out and definitely established principles of management.

Executive, like professional men, are earnestly seeking to profit by the experience of others. They recognize that the standards of business management are such that success cannot come overnight by luck or by doing the same old thing in the same old way; each day new men progress to more successful management practices. This leads them of every business position, whether it be that of general manager, sales manager, credit manager, office manager, department head or ambitious clerk. It holds good in the small business and the medium sized business as well as in the large business. No man who has not reached the top, nor stopped growing, can afford in this day and age not to be harnessed up with the wheels of progress.

In taking up this fascinating, up-to-date reading and service, you will derive personal profit in every direction. You will quickly find that you are grasping principles and new ideas which will make each day's problems easier. You will learn how to develop further your own natural abilities, and to bring out the best in other people, and to acquire real leadership.

Get the Complete Story

Call, Telephone or Write

The above announcement is only a bird's-eye view of this extraordinary new course and service in Business Administration and Management. Nothing comparable to it has been produced by any educational institution. There is no other library, or reading, or course of training, which will give you so much power for accomplishment and carry you so far in a business way within one to two years' time.

You can glimpse this by obtaining a complete outline of the Course and Service, as set forth in the new LaSalle book, "The Modern Executive and His Training," which will be sent you with our compliments. A letter or a telephone call will bring it to you promptly.

While the impulse is with you to make more of your time and of yourself—ACT!

FIVE BALLOONS STILL IN RACE; TWO DESTROYED

Americans Lose Chance for Bennett Cup.

BULLETIN.
LONDON, June 9.—(AP)—A wireless dispatch from Ushant, France, reports that the Goodyear III, only remaining American entry in the Gordon Bennett cup race, came down at sea at 11:30 last night. The crew was picked up by a German steamer. The Goodyear III was piloted by Wade T. Van Orman.

BRUSSELS, June 8.—(AP)—At 12 o'clock tonight, more than 25 hours after the start from Solbosch plain, six of the eighteen competitors in the Gordon Bennett cup balloon race still were in the air.

The aeronauts aloft included the three men picked as favorites to win the race—Ernest De Muyter, the Belgian champion and holder of the original Gordon Bennett cup; Wade T. Van Orman, United States; and Maurice Hénault, France.

Of the balloons which have come down, none has traveled the distance that generally wins a Gordon Bennett race. The Italian, Ciampino, has the best figure, 570 kilometers (354.19 miles), and the Italian, Aerostier, the next best, 540 kilometers (335.54 miles).

American 5-14 Lands.
The other bags which had been reported as landing were the American 5-14, the English Elsie, Miramar, and Banabee, the French Maroc, the Spanish Duro, Hespero, and Captain Penelope, and the Belgian Ville Bruxelles. The Ciampino came down at 7:45 o'clock this evening at Loudeac, Brittany. At 5:10 o'clock this afternoon the Aerostier landed at Romilly, France. Capt. O. W. Spencer in the English Miramar descended at Beaumont de Lomagne, France, having gone 480 kilometers (298.37 miles). The English Banabee landed at 10 o'clock tonight near Auderville, near Cape Hague, in the department of Manche, France, 495 kilometers (307.53 miles) distant from the starting point.

Spanish Balloon Lost in Sea.
The Spanish bag Hespero, piloted by De la Rocha, fell in the North sea and was lost. The pilot and Señor Lobos, who was in the basket with him, were rescued.

The English entry Elsie also came to grief. Its guide rope became entangled in a moving freight train near Boulogne and the bag was dragged down and destroyed.

Late this afternoon a carrier pigeon from the Belgica, piloted by De Muyter, arrived with a note saying the Belgica was in difficulty and that De Muyter, who when the pigeon departed was over the English channel, had dumped 250 pounds of ballast in order to keep in the air.

Boardman & Gray.
Est. in Albany, N. Y., in 1837. It is said to be America's oldest make, which has never "changed hands." A great piano when used in concert by Jennie in 1850. A still greater piano today.

Jesse French & Sons.
Has been called "the Bechstein of America." Distinguished because of its beautiful tone color. Est. 1873, and made by the original founders.

Waite.
A great many Waite Pianos have been sold. Every one satisfactory. Good tone quality. A little more economically priced.

NEXT-DOOR NEIGHBORS

BUT COMPLETELY

AND FOREVER DIVORCED

BRANIGAR

BROS. CO.'S

Ivanhoe

YOU can live like a lord at IVANHOE on an income of Five Thousand dollars a year.

Here, the man of moderate means may actually enact the part of a modern feudal baron... securely ensconced in the seclusion and privacy of a beautiful own-owned home... surrounded by a retinue of obedient servants to do your slightest bidding with unerring exactness and promptness... breathing the lilac-laden fragrance and the piney freshness of acre after acre of artificial parks and native woods... hobnobbing with your peers, your equals... and yet have merely to lift your eyes to command to view a veritable citadel of industry (the Calumet Manufacturing District, which is but two miles distant), from which victorious armies of business go forth daily to dominate the world.

At IVANHOE, electricity is the modern drudge which simplifies your duties. A dozen push-buttons will provide you more creature-comforts than a thousand of Julius Caesar's slaves. Silent, speedy electrically-driven trains will take you to the big city in 30 minutes, or set you down, in one-fifth that time, in the heart of the Billion Dollar Industrial Domain next door.

IVANHOE is the natural outgrowth of two Chicago projects of unexampled importance: never, in the evolution of earth's great cities, have two such colossal movements transpired simultaneously to pave the way for a community-development like that which is fast taking form in this miracle-city of Tomorrow. No straining of the imagination is required to grasp the significance of these irresistible, on-sweeping big events.

Even the most sanguine Chicago booster can hardly comprehend the true value to Chicago of the industrial dynasty which is forming round the plans for Calumet Harbor. This new world-center of manufacturing and shipping activity has already extended its sway for miles around, and is hailed, by those who know, as America's great future inland port—if not, indeed, the most important commercial harbor in all the world.

Millions upon millions have been invested there within the past few months in factories. Tens of thousands of persons are already employed in these vast plants. More than one billion dollars will be invested in factories within this district when the plants and improvements which are now under way are finally completed. Upward of 200,000 men will be employed.

Among the enterprises located at the fringe of the proposed harbor may be hurriedly named: Ford Motor Co. (with a plant covering many acres and employing several thousand men), Jones & Laughlin Steel Co. (building a $50,000,000 plant to employ 10,000 workers), Baldwin Locomotive Works, U. S. Steel Co., Inland Steel Co., Illinois Steel Co., Iroquois Steel Co., Wisconsin Steel Co., and others. In addition, more than fifty new steel plants are to be erected, and the Nickel-Plate Railroad has agreed with the city of Chicago to spend 600 millions for the building of new yards and freight terminals.

All this within two miles of IVANHOE, thus adding immeasurably to the value of every foot of our vast 460-acre tract. And yet, so far removed from IVANHOE that the isolation of our property could not be more complete if it were surrounded by a "Chinese wall" of stone and mortar.

In IVANHOE, the 10,000 or more officials of these neighboring plants will find their only acceptable place of residence convenient to their offices. As many more highly-paid skilled workmen will want homes and income-paying "2 flats" in this handy location—a mere five to ten minute ride by motor or by train and street car from their work.

Add to this the even greater demand for homesites which must inevitably follow the completion of Illinois Central-suburban electrification that pledges 30-minute down town service to the residents of IVANHOE. Conceive of the popular clamor that will be created for homesites in this fortune-favored spot when it becomes noised about among Chicagoans that these large and choice homesites are to be offered for as little as $850.00, with all improvements, such as cemented streets, cement sidewalks, sewer, water, gas, etc., installed and paid for, and with rigid and binding restrictions on every foot of ground.

Imagine what a multitude of people will be seeking homes in this new and perfect city. Then let your interest in such a patently-assured investment lead you to investigate while there yet remains time for you to get in on the ground floor.

JAZZ IS CALLED NATIONAL MUSIC STYLE; TO STAY

Convention Delegates to Discuss Problems Here.

You can't get rid of jazz, and since you can't, American composers are substituting the strains that come out of Tinian alley into music truly typical of modern America.

Kitchener apartments are responsible, among other things, for part of the increase in the sale of small musical instruments—notably the wailing saxophone.

The automobile and the piano are enemies. You tour in one and don't stay home to play the other.

Bootleggers Good Customers.

The bootlegger may not be musical, but a period grand is a swell index to new wealth. Bootleggers are good customers.

These along with a lot of other information, were a few tips that were floating around the Drake hotel yesterday, where several thousand delegates to the Music Trades of America convention met and chatted about their business. The meeting closes tomorrow night with a banquet and ball.

Secretary Matt J. Kennedy of the National Association of Music Merchants, one of the men chiefly responsible for the slogan the delegates are putting over: "Make America Musical"—was responsible also for that first statement about jazz.

It is the National Style.

"I believe music buyers are returning to the classical, a little at least," he said. "But you can't down jazz. Right now it is our national style of music. Men like Whitman and Paul Ash are making it still more typical. They are progressing toward what may be the creation of a new musical school which will be our own."

Mayor Dwyer spoke at the noonday luncheon against a background composed of the male chorus from the "Student Prince."

Old Times Meet Tonight.

A banquet of old times in the music business will be held this evening. Preparations are in charge of George F. Brest, who began business in 1871. No one with a record of less than thirty years' service will be permitted to attend. J. A. Bane of Middletown, N. Y., 43 years old, and who says he has sold more than 100,000 pianos, will be guest of honor.

Prof. Osbourne McCandless of Northwestern university will speak this morning on the relationship between school music and the music merchant. Congressman Henry R. Rathbone will be principal speaker at Wednesday night's banquet. Cyrus Van Gordon of the Chicago Civic Opera company and George Leding, pianist, will be on the program.

WOMAN, RESIDENT OF CHICAGO FOR 61 YEARS, IS DEAD

Mrs. Thomas Beesley, 61 years a resident of Chicago, died yesterday at her home, 641 Madison street, after a short illness with pneumonia.

Mrs. Beesley was born in New York but her parents moved here in 1864 and built a two-story house where The Full department store is now located. It was burned in the fire of 1871.

In recent years Mrs. Beesley has been active in Catholic charities. She was the widow of Thomas Beesley, a mechanical engineer and inventor. Mrs. Beesley is survived by a son, Thomas, vice president of the Conover-Mooney company.

THREE INJURED AT 2 MISHAPS IN ELEVATORS

One woman, Mrs. Nellie Fechter, 22, of 7720 South Adams street, was seriously injured and several other passengers were shaken up when an elevator in the building at 17 Quincy street dropped from the fourth floor yesterday and was caught by the safety appliances at the third floor.

Two men were injured, one probably fatally, when a 1,500 pound elevator drum crashed down on them in the elevator at the Scully-Jones foundry, 2045 West 14th street.

Walter Reinhardt, 1853 West Jackson boulevard, is in the county hospital in a dying condition. John Kunhart, 2312 South Winchester avenue, was taken to St. Anthony's hospital.

Brothers Get Maximum Term for Stealing Watch

For robbing a man of a cheap watch, a Columbus half dollar, and a comb, and admitting it, two brothers, Leonard Triner and George Triner, were given the maximum penalty yesterday when Judge Homes Wells sentenced them to the penitentiary to serve from ten years to life. Their victim was F. C. Schuitze, 185 Leanington avenue.

Frank Duffy, Introducer of Cabaret to City, Dies

Frank Duffy, first saloonkeeper to introduce the cabaret to Chicago, died yesterday. He was 65 years old. As a manager of Dave Lewinsohn's loop saloon and later as proprietor of his own at Wabash avenue and Harrison street he was known to many thousands. The body was sent last night to Hamilton, Ont., Duffy's birthplace.

SHOCKED AS CHIEF OF AUTO THIEVES

Francis Kest, 45 years old, who lives at the Pyramide hotel, 1241 W. Madison street, was arrested yesterday by Evanston police and charged with being leader of a gang of automobile thieves active here and in other north shore cities for the last fifteen months.

DIRIGIBLE, FORCED BACK, WILL TRY VOYAGE AGAIN

Washington, D. C., June 8.—(AP)—The ship Los Angeles was directed by Secretary Wilbur today to resume its flight to Minnesota as soon as necessary engine repairs have been made.

It is expected that the dirigible, which turned back after getting as far as Cleveland yesterday because of engine trouble, will be able to leave Lakehurst, N. J., for its second attempt in about two days, if weather conditions are favorable.

On her second attempt the dirigible will go over the route scheduled for the first flight west of Cleveland, but whether she will follow the previous route east of that point or take some other course will be left to the discretion of the commanding officer.

Dirigible Berths Safety.

Lakehurst, N. J., June 8.—(AP)—The navy dirigible Los Angeles was berthed safely in her hangar at 525 p. m. today, after twenty-five separate attempts by the regular field staff, augmented by volunteers. The ship had been forced to remain aloft twelve hours following her return from the attempted Minnesota flight.

Five bodies were left in the mine while the search continued for the other twelve men still unaccounted for. Shortly after darkness set in over the little valley, all the rescue workers, numbering about sixty men, returned to the surface. Ten of them were ill from the effects of gas and received medical attention.

Fans which were supplying fresh air for the workers were reversed as soon as all the men were taken to the surface. Experienced miners explained that this action might aid in drawing poison gas out of the workings.

Germany Pays $25,000,000 to Dawes Fund During May

BERLIN, June 8.—(AP)—Germany's reparations payments through the office of the agent general totaled 100,100,000 marks ($25,000,000) during May. France received 42,500,000 marks ($10,625,000), chiefly in deliveries of coal, coke, lignite, and chemicals. England received 10,800,000 marks ($2,700,000), of which 7,800,000 marks ($1,950,000) were credited to payments under the recovery act. Other sums were devoted to various payments under the Dawes plan.

FATHER TRAYNOR, PASTOR HERE FOR 8 YEARS, IS DEAD

The Rev. Philip Traynor, pastor of St. Columbkille's Catholic church, North Paulina street and West Grand avenue, died yesterday at the Alexian Brothers hospital, where he was taken last Thursday. The executive heat increased an attack of indigestion and overcame him, it was said.

Father Traynor was born in County Cavan, Ireland. He was educated in St. Mary's, Kansas, and St. Mary's, Baltimore. He has been pastor of the parish, which is one of the largest in Chicago, for 8 years. The body was removed to the church, and last evening a service was held at which the Rev. Terence O'Brien officiated.

Further O'Brien will hold a service this morning at 8 o'clock attended by the children of the parish. Tomorrow morning at 10 the office of the dead will be held, followed by a solemn requiem mass, in the presence of his eminence Cardinal Mundelein and participated in by the clergy of the archdiocese. The Rev. Dr. B. L. Donahue will preach the sermon, and burial will be at Mount Carmel.

17 ENTOMBED IN MINE EXPLOSION BELIEVED DEAD

Five Bodies Found in Kentucky Disaster.

Stupp, Ky., June 8.—(AP)—Five bodies, three of them unidentified, had been found in the workings of the explosion wrecked mine No. 9 of the West Kentucky Coal Mining company at 9 o'clock tonight. All of the known victims were negroes. Twelve men remain in the mine and all are believed dead.

Sections number 3 and 4 were sealed and buried by the blast, which was caused by the accumulation of gas. Timber and debris cluttered up sections of both entries. Another rescue crew of picked men was being organized tonight to retake the mine with plans to assist in the search for other victims. Mud in some places was found a foot and a half deep and seriously hampered speedy work. With the lamps, miners hope to advance faster.

The five bodies were left in the mine while the search continued for the other twelve men still unaccounted for. Shortly after darkness set in over the little valley, all the rescue workers, numbering about sixty men, returned to the surface. Ten of them were ill from the effects of gas and received medical attention.

VIDOR FRIENDLY
COMPACT ENDS
IN DIVORCE PLEA

But Film Pair Are Still Friends, Anyway.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 8.—(Special.)—Florence Vidor, film actress, today filed a divorce complaint against King Vidor, director. She charges desertion.

Vidor today explained that he maintains the utmost respect for his wife, but "we finally agreed it was useless to go ahead with any further thought of reconciliation." He will not defend the suit, his friends stated.

Married in 1915.

Florence Arto married King Vidor in Houston, Tex., Sept. 21, 1915. Vidor was favorably known as an actor in the pictures. They separated March 16, 1923, in Los Angeles, the divorce papers state.

Mrs. Vidor asks for custody of six year old Suzanne, the only child, who, her complaint states, "always has been cared for by her mother." She asks for alimony or property settlement.

On May 4, 1923, Mrs. Vidor announced the making of a domestic compact with her husband which consisted of "being friendly, instead of husband and wife." They were to continue to go around together, although living under different roofs, and she explained, "the experiment may end in a week or two years."

Still "Likes" Him, but—

Mrs. Vidor announced she still "liked" her husband, but that "since we've separated we've done our best work."

to the music-loving public of Chicago to visit this exhibition and view the supreme achievement of the day and age in the development of the piano-building art

LYON & HEALY take particular pride in announcing this exhibition, and in stating that, so far as possible, it will be a permanent feature of this establishment. There is no possibility of question that the reproducing piano is the piano of today and the future. Of all such instruments the Duo-Art is the outstanding and unquestioned leader. Its world supremacy in every civilized country is clearly recognized and firmly established.

This exhibit shows the world's premier reproducing piano in a wide variety of

Beautiful Period Designs

embracing examples of Spanish, Florentine, Venetian, Sheraton, Chippendale, William & Mary, Francis I, Louis XVI, and other distinctive decorative epochs

The pianos themselves, equipped with the incomparable Duo-Art and presented in cases of such unusual charm and rare beauty, are the finest to be obtained.

They include the famous

STEINWAY

—the only pianos in the world of international renown with factories both in Europe and America—and the well-known Wheelock, Stroud and Aeolian.

Lyon & Healy cordially invite all who are interested in music and musical instrument development to visit this exhibit.

The broad appeal of these instruments, their wide adaptability, is due to the fact that in spite of their distinction and superb quality they are relatively moderate in price and are available for purchase on a monthly payment plan of extremely easy terms.

CHICAGO BAPTIST MINISTERS LAUD ROCKEFELLERS

Resent Criticism of Them
by Dr. Straton.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.
John D. Rockefeller and John D. Jr. were given high praise yesterday at the Chicago Baptist ministers' conference in Immanuel church. Likewise criticism of the Rockefellers by Dr. John Roach Straton in his sermon Sunday in the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, New York was vigorously resented.

The resolutions which were presented by Dr. Johnston Myers, pastor of Immanuel church, were ordered sent to every minister of the Baptist conference in Chicago with the request that if they approved the resolution they should sign the same. Upon receipt of the signatures the names are to be immediately sent to the Rockefellers, father and son.

L. B. Steel Transfer cases are built to stand it

WITH office space worth as much as though it were carpeted with dollar bills, L. B. Steel transfer cases can save you real money. They can be piled ceiling-high!

In addition to this saving in floor space, L. B. Steel transfers offer these advantages:

1. Ease of operation. Drawers glide smoothly on four roller bearings. Rigid steel construction prevents warping or binding of drawers.

2. Protection of contents. All-steel construction insures fire resistance—protects contents from dampness, rats and dust.

3. Large capacity. The drawer of the L. B. Steel transfer case has 26 3/4 inches of filing space. Thus, fewer cases are needed.

4. Reasonable Price. As low in price as wood. Yet their lasting utility make them even lower in cost.

At our convenient store you will see L. B. Steel transfer cases in all sizes and styles for every transfer need. Act today—only three weeks before transfer time.

the Rev. John Roach Straton, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church.

On the basis of a note signed "Secretary," issued from Dr. Straton's study, which informed him that the clergyman's doctrine of divinity came from Ewing college at Ewing, Ill., the Rev. Mr. Powell produced a reply from the president of Ewing saying the college had no record of bestowing the degree upon Dr. Straton.

The pastor of Calvary church was not at the meeting. But he was home tonight—home with a doctor of divinity sheepskin from Shurtleiff college, Alton, Ill., in hand. And he was full of scornful fire for Mr. Powell. He was told that the New Jersey minister, aroused by Dr. Straton's characterization of the Park Avenue Baptist church as the "Society church," had bestowed the title "fakir's paradise" on the Straton edifice.

A GREETING TO THE MUSIC TRADES

WE would like to offer a cordial welcome to all who are attending the Music Trades Convention. We hope that we shall have an opportunity of meeting many of you at our headquarters in the Kimball Hall Building, or at our display room, M-11, on the mezzanine floor of the Drake Hotel.

We are sure that you will also find much to interest you at our factory; during the convention two special trips are made daily to our plant; we trust that you will be able to accompany us.

You should not on any account fail to inspect our new studio organ in the Salon on the second floor of the Kimball Hall Building, and the four-manual organ in Kimball Concert Hall. The latter has recently been dedicated, and has attracted wide attention; this wonderfully complete instrument has been justly referred to as a "civic asset." The studio organ is equipped with separate and distinct residence and theatre organ consoles, and every part of the mechanism is so installed that you may literally walk into the interior of the instrument and examine it.

Nowhere else can you find so complete a representation of all types of organs—concert, theatre, church, and residence—as you will see grouped in the Kimball Hall Building.

Whatever time you have available for an inspection of our exhibits—organs, grand pianos, reproducing pianos, uprights, players and phonographs—either at the Drake Hotel or at our headquarters, be sure that we shall warmly appreciate the pleasure of meeting you.

Just ONE BIG TOWN

★ The Market IS NOT WHERE PEOPLE LIVE—BUT WHERE THEY BUY; not where they are, but where they GO. The farmer no longer exists as a segregated buying class. He is no longer geographically ISOLATED.

Gasoline has taken the spots out of the map and removed the last vestige of the old line between town and country—for the automobile has emancipated the farmer from the limitations of space and time.

In less time than it used to take him to hitch up a horse, the farmer of today is pecking his silver dollar on a glass showcase five or ten miles from home and asking to be waited on. He is practically a daily visitor to his nearby town trading center. His face is familiar on its streets. He is its citizen. It is his buying base. The banker, the grocer, the druggist, the hardware merchant, the policeman at the corner—they all call him by his first name. His boy goes to the town high school, plays on the high school basket ball team, and perchance walks up street after 4 o'clock with the banker's daughter.

The market is not where people live—but where they BUY.

There is no line any more between town and country. The farmer lives out on the brick road a little way—that's the only difference. Instead of being a manufacturer of furniture, or shoes, or automobile parts, he is merely in another line—he manufactures FOOD.

The farmer buys in town. The city man buys in town. The whole American market is just one big town market.

But, if you are like some national merchandisers, there is one side to the town that your sales message is not reaching—one side to the town that does not know your brand, and never buys your goods except when the local dealer personally VOUCHES FOR THEM.

You can put a single united effort against this single united market, if you reach that other side of the town through FARM LIFE—its favorite magazine.

Farm Life, through intensive, exacting circulation methods, and by printing only such carefully selected editorial matter as will interest and attract the thinking farm families of this country, provides you with a cream market of more than a million homes. It is a cream market that can not be reached surely and effectively and systematically except through Farm Life.

Only 28% of its readers take any metropolitan newspaper. Less than 23% take any of the general magazines. Less than 16% subscribe to any other one farm paper.

You can not effectively reach Farm Life's big market—the one big town of more than a million farm families—EXCEPT through Farm Life.

U. S. WON'T SEND BIG DIRIGIBLES FOR AMUNDSEN

Hazards Too Great, Wilbur Tells Norwegians.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., June 8.—(Special.)—Secretary of the Navy Wilbur announced today that neither the Los Angeles nor the Shenandoah will be sent on a flight to the rescue of the Amundsen expedition unless the department is notified of the exact location of the missing explorers.

Even supplied with these facts, it is very unlikely that the navy department will agree to send the giant dirigibles, the secretary said.

"In our opinion, we cannot think of undertaking such an expedition without having in our possession the definite plans of Amundsen," he said.

And even then we believe it would be unfeasible to make the trip because of the hazards to lighter than air craft.

Secretary Wilbur's statement was made in reply to the request of the Norwegian Aero club of Oslo, the backers of the Amundsen expedition, that the United States send one of its giant dirigibles to search the vast wastes of the north and especially the region of northwestern Greenland and Cape Columbia.

"Our investigation for the MacMillan expedition disclosed that the temperatures will range around the freezing point when the expedition arrives at its base in the Arctic," Mr. Wilbur said.

"Think what this will mean to the airship. Last summer during a rainstorm the Los Angeles gained a weight of about two tons. At that time it was believed that the ship anchored the water and that caused the added weight, but it has been ascertained the weight comes from the water sliding off the sides of the ship."

Secretary Wilbur called attention to the fact that all the helium would be in the United States and that if the gas were lost in any large quantity it might be impossible to handle the ship.

CHARCOT LEAVES IN JULY TO AID AMUNDSEN HUNT

Speed 2 Seaplanes to Spitzbergen.

PARIS, June 8.—(AP)—Dr. Jean Charcot, the French polar explorer, announced today his intention to leave during the first week in July to search for the missing Amundsen-Ellsworth polar expedition. He expressed the belief that the Amundsen party is safe and is trying to reach civilization before the polar winter sets in.

Seaplanes Speed to Scene.

ABOARD R. S. INGERSOLL, June 8.—(AP)—(Wireless.)—At 9:30 this morning the Ingersoll, carrying the Norwegian government's Amundsen relief expedition, was proceeding toward Spitzbergen at her maximum speed of 18½ knots per hour.

The seaplanes F-18 and F-22 were along across the deck ready for instant service whenever needed. They will be used in searching for the missing explorers who started for the north pole from Spitzbergen in two flying boats, May 21.

Prepare MacMillan.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 8.—(AP)—The amphibian airplanes NA-1, NA-2, and NA-3 are undergoing their final test at the Philadelphia navy yard for their arctic work with the MacMillan expedition. Today aircraft factory employees were engaged in installing earth conductor compasses and additional gasoline tanks on all three machines.

Fifty Years Helping Men to "Come Back"

Half a century ago, Dr. Leslie E. Keeley announced that Drink and Drug habits were physical maladies; and must be treated as such with rest, care and proper medicines.

In his lifetime, Dr. Keeley returned thousands of happy men and women to their homes—entirely free from the thrall of Drink and Drugs.

The Keeley Institute at Dwight, Illinois, has continued the same work in the same manner—with the same happy results. Absolutely no restraint; no bad after effects. ## TRY TO ATTACK GIRLS THEY MET AT DANCE HALL

Dance hall romances early yesterday morning nearly ended disastrously for two girls, one 19 years old and the other 18.

They met Thomas Danlano, 30, of 3331 North Oakley avenue, and Joseph Marino, 25, of 2906 Jackson boulevard. After a few dances the men offered to drive them home, and the girls accepted. But instead of taking the girls home they drove to the forest preserve and attempted to attack them.

Mrs. Anna Brothers, who lives near by, heard the girls scream and fired several revolver shots toward the car. The noise attracted Sgt. Hemmer and his squad, cruising nearby, and they pulled up just as Danlano and Marino threw the girls out of their car. Firing shotguns and revolvers, the detectives pursued the fleeing men and finally captured them.

Age-Old Experience and Old Age Comfort

It isn't easy to be a saving first-year bride. There are many things to get for the house. Then friends come; entertaining costs money, and the bridegroom's salary is likely to be less than in succeeding years.

Yet the history of the race has been that saving has been the peculiar responsibility of the woman. If she didn't see that something was put aside, there were likely to be hungry days.

The bride today perhaps has more temptation to spend than ever before. The standard of living has been raised, and friends preach the doctrine, "You can save when you're old; spend and have a good time while you're young."

But if you notice the young married people who have followed that advice, you will see that at moments of reckoning, they have lines of worry in their faces that aren't in the faces of those who have a surplus. One can't go against age-old experience with impunity.

This does not mean that saving should take the joy out of life. The savings of the first year will naturally be less than in following years. But the principle of saving should be established. If you wish to own a home, or your husband wishes to start business for himself, or an income from investments is to be built, you must begin—perhaps in a small way.

We invite every bride to come in and talk over her first year expense problems with our Service Station experts. They may help her lay an easy financial foundation for her married life.

Relief After Ten Years' Back to Work Again

Terre Haute, Ind., April 20 '25
"For the last 10 years I have had rheumatism in my knees and ankles and while I have taken various remedies, it still remained in my system. My business keeps me on my feet all the time and I walk from 2 to 5 miles each day. About a month ago I got so bad I could not continue my work. I was persuaded to try Dr. Tripp's Liquor Rheumatica. I am now taking the second bottle and am able to walk all day without any trouble. I feel better than I have for a long time, and will gladly tell others what it has done for me."
Mr. J. K.

Free From Pain First Time in Year

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 12, '24
"I suffered intensely for a long time and doctored for months without getting better; whereas, after taking the first bottle of your medicine, I was entirely free of pain for the first time in over a year."
Gratefully yours, Mr. R. B.

Spent $4800—Then Discovered Liquor Rheumatica

Terre Haute, Ind., April 22, '25
"My wife has suffered untold agonies for over 20 years with rheumatism and arthritis. I sold my farm and business and have spent $4,800 in trying to cure her. I am now working in the Coal Mines here. The arthritis got so bad that she lost the use of her right ankle and foot years ago, unable to move any joint. After taking one bottle of Dr. Tripp's "Liquor Rheumatica" the joints all loosened up, and she regained the use of her leg entirely. She is still taking the medicine and gaining strength every day. She is also doing her household and can walk anywhere without assistance. We will never stop talking about this wonderful medicine and what it has done for her."
Mr. M. B. P.

HINDENBURG FOE OF RED RUSSIA, GERARD ASSERTS

Sees Hope for World in Strong Bulwark.

New York, June 8.—(AP)—James W. Gerard, ambassador to Germany from 1913 to 1917, who returned today from a six weeks' trip to Europe, expressed belief that the election of Von Hindenburg as president of Germany was a good thing for Germany and the world at large.

"It means a bulwark against the Reds in Germany and against Soviet Russia abroad," he said.

"Hindenburg is (Und. & Und. Photo.) an honest man. I expect to see changes in the German constitution looking toward a stronger government, with possibly a return to monarchy later.

"This will be no great calamity and the crown prince has learned lessons of adversity. He is the most maligned and slandered man in the world.

Why Hindenburg Won.

"Women voted for Hindenburg because they know that in a Red government the bad woman rule.

"The keystone of all European politics—financial, political, and economic—is security for France. If that is guaranteed all other problems are easily solved."

Mr. Gerard said that he was surprised by the calmness with which the French had received the election of Hindenburg.

O. K.'s French Attitude.

"They simply wait," he said, "to see whether Germany will become militaristic again and in the meantime they are right, until they learn the intentions of the new Germany, in not disbanding one corporal's guard."

"As a Democrat," Mr. Gerard said, "I admire the way in which we are represented abroad. Herrick in France, Houghton in England, Moore in Spain, Fletcher in Italy, and our other representatives are doing splendid work. So far, I think that the foreign policy of President Coolidge has been successful."

DRAG LAKE FOR SHOTGUN TO HELP CLEAR MYSTERY

Police last night were dragging the lake at the foot of 8th street in an effort to find a shotgun believed hidden there. If found, it would establish the theory that the unidentified man found there Sunday had committed suicide and was not murdered. The suicide theory was considered by Deputy Coroner Adolph Hermann after an inquest into the man's death had been continued until June 25. The accepted theory was that the man, standing on the edge of a pier, had placed the shotgun to his head and discharged it. A razor and a gauge shell were found in the man's clothing.

All you need for a picnic...

THESE TWO FRIENDS! According to Noah Webster, a picnic is a "pleasure party." Whenever you meet these two friends, Clicquot Club Ginger Ale, Regular and Pale Dry—that's a pleasure party. Clicquot Club Ginger Ale, Regular, is a mellow, full-flavored, merry drink—the life of the party. Clicquot Club Pale Dry is mild and subtle. Whenever you have a thirst, call for Clicquot Club Ginger Ale. Choose the blend you like best, but remember—when you drink Clicquot Club you drink the finest, tastiest, purest ginger ale you can buy. There's forty years of knowing how to make ginger ale sealed into every full pint bottle. Taste the taste that first taught America what real ginger ale is. # Profit and Service

In a recent article on economics in "The Nation's Business," Foster and Catchings, say: "Profit-making was maintained and developed by American statesmen and legislators, with the approval of economists, because these men believed that profit-making by manufacturers, traders and financiers was the most effective way of increasing national wealth."

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes only in profits which accrue from service. This Company is in business to serve its patrons, and through this service to earn an adequate profit for the stockholders whose money has made the industry possible. Profit is the life-blood of industry, but the profit taken must be an exact return for the service rendered. Profit-eering is abhorrent to the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in serving gasoline and oils is rendering a fundamental service, not only to immediate patrons, but to everyone in the Middle West. The progress of the community depends upon these products. Without them, farmers could not produce sufficient food-stuffs, nor could industry produce sufficient clothing, shelter, light, heat and other necessities of life.

The providing of gasoline and oils can be accomplished only by specialists. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana), in particular, has developed through years of effort an organization of specialists, men who know their jobs from the ground up, and who think of these jobs primarily as a service.

These men are experts. No matter what demand may be made upon them, in the line of their work, they are equal to the emergency. Such a body of employees, organized under expert direction, such as obtains in this Company, is a valuable asset to the community.

While man is constituted as he is today, the incentive to action will always be a reward of some sort. And profit, when it is the result of honest, useful service, undertaken for a fair and agreed return, is the most powerful incentive.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to the last man, is in business first and foremost to render service. It is to the interest of this Company to sell gasoline and oils as cheaply as possible, that they may be within reach of all. For only by sales on a mighty scale can this Company continue to succeed.

RAILROADS PASS TERMINAL BUCK TO CITY FORCES

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The $200,000,000 or $300,000,000 railway terminal development on the south side is lagging because of the inaction of the city, according to the representatives of the interested railroads.

The last official statement on the subject came from H. G. Clark, assistant to President Gorman of the Rock Island railroad, who is chairman of the committee representing the fourteen railroads.

He says it cannot be ascertained how many railroads will use the proposed south side terminal until its cost can be estimated with reasonable accuracy; and that the cost cannot be got until the railroads know how much the river straightening and the street improvement plan will cost.

"Are you waiting for the city? Is that the thought you want to leave with the railway terminal committee of the city?" asked Ald. Nelson.

"Yes," replied Mr. Clark.

Illinois Central Plan Affected.

President Markham of the Illinois Central was asked last week by this committee when he intended to start erecting his monumental station.

He replied that he was ready to start whenever he could ascertain how many of the railroads now using the Dearborn, La Salle, and Grand Central stations would go over to the lake front.

He estimated the cost of his entire terminal improvement, including electrification, at $75,000,000. These roads are holding back a decision until they can compare the Illinois Central rentals with those of the proposed competing terminal, the cost of which is awaiting the city's estimate on street improvements and straightening of the river.

The Pennsylvania and the Burlington agreed to the straightening of the river, Mar. 13, 1914, in accepting the union station ordinance. That agreement runs for fifteen years and expires in 1929. Since 1914 the B. & O. has also agreed to river straightening. The Rock Island, New York Central and the Northwestern, which control all of the other property involved in river straightening, have no written agreement with the city.

Street Plans to be Told.

Chairman Kaindl of the council railway terminal committee announced yesterday that Attorney Eugene Dupue will explain the procedure in the suggested street improvements at the committee session tomorrow morning.

The Illinois Central ordinance was passed July 21, 1915. The reason advanced at that time for giving the I. C. so much land was in order to care for railroads now using the Dearborn, Grand Central and La Salle stations. The report of March, 1921, of the city's railway terminal commission said:

"In the preliminary report of the commission it was shown that there was available in property owned by the Illinois Central on the lake front a station site of sufficient size to accommodate not only the traffic of the present Illinois Central station, but also the traffic at present using the Dearborn, La Salle and Grand Central stations."

I. C. Space Called Ample For All.

This report in another part also says: "In this [I. C.] location there is ample space for the development of a passenger terminal sufficient to take care of the immediate and future requirements of the through passenger traffic of the railroads now using the present passenger terminals between State street and the Chicago river" on the south side.

The report goes on: "The [I. C.] ordinance contains ample provisions for the protection of railroads that might become tenants to this station and it would undoubtedly be to the best interests of the city if all of the railroads now having their passenger terminals in the territory between State street and the Chicago river would make the station provided in their ordinance the terminal for their through passenger trains.

"It is also believed that the best interests of the railroads would also be served by removing to this station."

These city opinions, which city officials have not modified to date, appear to have been forgotten by the railway terminal committee the last two years.

Undoubtedly Mr. Markham has been using these opinions on roads he desires as tenants, who are not willing to select a terminal until they know the cost figures of the proposed, competing terminal, which are waiting on the city's estimates of street improvements and river straightening.

Dentist Reported Indicted on Charge Made by Girl, 14

Dr. Edward Applegate, a dentist, 44 years old, was reported to have been indicted by the grand jury yesterday on a charge of rape. A 14 year old school girl testified that when she went to his office at 2736 West North avenue to get a tooth extracted he attacked her.

Ten years forward in one long step

Wahl gold or silver construction biggest fountain pen improvement

NOW the new Wahl gold or silver construction takes the self-filler ten years forward for the biggest gain in efficiency in fountain pen history.

The barrel of the self-filling pen does not hold ink. It is merely a case—protecting the soft rubber ink sac and the "works" of the pen—just like a watch case.

The handsome metal barrel of Wahl Pen is practically unbreakable. Gold or silver construction is used because five thousand years of human experience have proved these precious metals most enduring and satisfactory.

Wahl Pen nibs are the finest product of the jeweler's art. Their action is smooth as ivory. The entire pen is light, well balanced, a perfect writing tool—a personal article of which you can be proud.

A Gift For Every Occasion

In this month of gifts—for weddings, anniversaries, commencements—Wahl Pen or Eversharp are the best answers to the question: "What Shall I Send?" Give one or give both. They match perfectly—in material and in design.

no more moth-holes

NOW YOU CAN MOTHPROOF THE CLOTH ITSELF

Ann—"Don't the moths ever get into your rugs in summer? They do in mine."
Mary—"Moths never get into anything in this house. I've made everything mothproof with Larvex. Now I don't even have to pack my things away."

At last—what you have been wanting for years!
Larvex! It makes all woolen things mothproof

NOW, for the first time, woolen things are protected from moth-damage in the right way—the only sure way. Larvex, a great new discovery, makes the cloth itself mothproof. You spray it. And it penetrates the wool fibres and becomes part of the goods.

Formerly, you have fought the moth. But the moth is harmless. It only lays eggs. But these eggs hatch into moth-worms which do the eating. And they eat all year round. But they will not eat any article protected with Larvex.

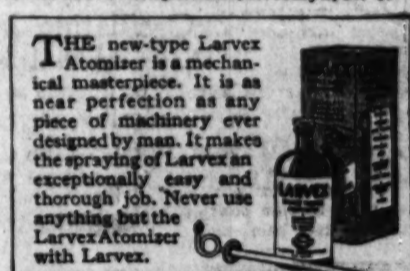

Larvex is such sure protection that many of America's leading textile manufacturers use it. Their products are now mothproofed with Larvex when you buy them. What it does for their goods it will do for the woolen things in your home.

It is really pleasant to use Larvex. For it is as odorless as water. Colorless and stainless, too. It won't burn or explode. It is non-injurious. Spray it on anything—except furs. Once an article is protected with Larvex, it needs no further protection. No need to wrap and pack away. Your things are safe anywhere.

It is easy to use Larvex. Simply insert the Larvex Atomizer in the bottle of Larvex. Pump up and down with one finger. This throws a powerful spray, that mothproofs every woolen thing it touches. Larvex with new-type atomizer costs $1.50. Once you have the atomizer, buy Larvex only at $1.00. At drug, department and furniture stores. Get Larvex today.

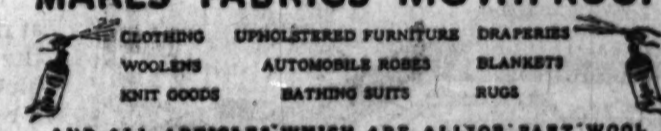

The Larvex Corporation, Brooklyn, N. Y.

THE new-type Larvex Atomizer is a mechanical masterpiece. It is as near perfection as any piece of machinery ever designed by man. It makes the spraying of Larvex an exceptionally easy and thorough job. Never use anything but the Larvex Atomizer with Larvex.

HUBBARD, LOCKE WILL LOCK HUBS IN CENTURY HERE

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Among the many features of the National Collegiate A. A. track and field championships to be held on Stagg field Friday and Saturday will be the racing of Hubbard and Locke of Nebraska.

Hubbard and Locke are two of America's leading 100 yard dash men. Each has tied the world's record of .99.5 for the 100 yard dash.

Another interesting duel will take place in the high jump when Justin Russell of Chicago and Tom Poor of Kansas meet. Russell shattered the national record in the high jump Saturday by clearing the bar at 6 feet 8 inches, while Poor has been jumping 6 feet 6 inches consistently all spring.

Glenn Hartrant of Leland Stanford, holder of the world's record in the discus throw at 137 feet 13 inches, will match ability with Herbert Schwarz of Wisconsin in the shot put and with Robinson of Missouri and Hancock of Iowa in the discus throw.

Woods and Waters BOB BECKER

AN ANIMAL THAT LIKES THE DESERT.

NEW MEXICO, on route to California—Going through a region of rocky buttes and tablelands and wide sandy desert areas with heavy blue mountains in the distance, it looks as if there was hardly a living mammal in such a country, but the desert furnishes a fascinating story when you get to know it. And in some of the most arid spots there is a relatively large animal population.

For example, there lives in the desert that handsome but rather odd looking kangaroo rat. He is well named, as he is built something like a kangaroo (with the exception of a pouch) and has long hind legs and short front legs just like the larger animal. This desert loving rat, with his pure white underparts and black tipped tail, cares nothing for water. He has the camel hump forty ways when it comes to the drinking business. Whenever the desert must have his deep, long drinks at intervals, Mr. Kangaroo Rat goes through life and thrives without ever seeing his nose let a pool for a drink. He gets what water he needs from the roots of plants.

Why I Took Up Golf

Judge Denis E. Sullivan is a loyal booster of Edgewater. He is also vice-president of that club. Hear why he took up golf.

BY DENIS E. SULLIVAN.

SOME dozen years ago, at the close of a rather strenuous court year, the effects of the continuing duties of a courtroom indicated my nerves were in rather a frayed condition. It was apparent to me that I needed a change which should be both physical and mental.

So I purchased some golf clubs and commenced the lifetime struggle from "club player" to "par golfer." I am still somewhere between the two extremes, and many times I think I am "progressing" backwards.

However, to be in the open air, to walk on springy turf instead of concrete, to see the trees, the flowers, the grass, the birds, to witness nature's best, to be in association with congenial gentlemen, to feel the spirit of content with an occasional par hole, is to my mind the most delightful and refreshing pastime yet known to man.

After eighteen holes of golf I can turn to my work with renewed vigor and enthusiasm, with a clearer head, feeling that I have been much benefited by the few hours in the open.

Supper, Not Dinner

On Board, the President's Train June 9.—(P)—As President and Mrs. Coolidge were eating an early dinner the train stopped at Wadsworth, O. The crowd at a baseball game near the station rushed over to the train, Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge leaving the diner to greet them.

"Mr. President," some one shouted, "you ruined a perfect good ball game."

"Well, you ruined a perfect good supper," remarked Mrs. Coolidge with a smile.

The President's train was delayed a few minutes at Akron by a hot box which developed under the tender of the engine.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNY

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

On the President's Train, April 9, 1925. (Special to the Tribune.)—The President of the United States, who is sending his wife to Washington today after having him a welcome and a Godspeed, touched him very deeply.

The happiest President, since the death of his wife, Mrs. Coolidge, placed the buoyant, boisterous of Theodore Roosevelt.

Veterans Say Howdy. The Iowa life "Howdy do, Cal" that floated out to him from a crowd of old soldiers lined up near the street bridge by which he crossed the Mississippi river from St. Paul to Minneapolis, and when, a little farther on, a lusty man shouted, "Three cheers for Cal!" the President beamed and blushed, self-conscious way and his cheeks got quite pink.

The size of the throngs Mr. Coolidge passed through on Monday was an awe memory to him today, doubts whether any President's saw an equal number of people in day, though he thinks he may spoken to as many people at the State rally in Washington last week as he spoke to at the Minnesota fair grounds.

Notwithstanding the difficulties caused by the high wind and threat of a downpour at the grounds, he is pleased by the throngs that he never had closer attention.

Gratified by Crop Reports. He is much gratified by information which he obtained from farmers which he trusts that crop conditions in Wisconsin, Minnesota, and North Dakota are not discouraging.

OK political impression he is far from empty handed. Nor does he seek them. It was not that kind party. Statements that the visit was far from personal political substance you can set down as the words of overwise persons try to write something about nothing.

The impression that struck him with Mr. Coolidge was a personal impression, an impression of the man, fruitful patriotism of the war.

Every One Seemed Satisfied. As to economic conditions on the farm horizon, he had no opportunity for conference, but his spokesman that he bases his belief in a good satisfaction with conditions which anyone could see.

He judged largely by the appearance and dress of the hundreds of men, women and children he saw yesterday and today. Not lost to his eyes was the fact that most of the women were wearing what he thought were old-fashioned dresses, and some of them seemed to think that the President was a pretty general display of nothing.

The President met a goodly number of relatives who are living in Iowa and, true New Englander, he loved the reunion. The children of a brother of his mother. They are his second cousins, their names are Brewster, and the Putnams also, but they are distant connections.

Not a Stranger. At no time has the President been a stranger. That thoughtfulness of his reception abilities, and with it he enters into the spirit of the patriotic fervor of the people.
